

ESRI Welcomes geoAMPS as Silver Tier Partner

GeoAMPS recently joined the worldwide community of companies in the Esri Partner Network as a Silver Tier Partner, giving them access to technological and marketplace strategies for developing and marketing geoAMPS business offerings built on the Esri software platform. Prior to becoming a Silver Tier Partner, the company utilized Esri's geographic information system software and integrated it into each of the software products it offers.

"We're excited to become a member of the Esri Partner Network," said Yogesh Khandelwal, geoAMPS President and Chief Executive Officer. "We like to take the educational approach and develop best practices in a way to leverage mapping technology in day-to-day operations for the betterment of our product and the industry. In doing so, we arrive at creative solutions and offer better decision-making capabilities to our clients."

Yogesh spoke about advances in right of way technology at the January seminar presented by IRWA's Ohio Buckeye Chapter 13.

"We welcome geoAMPS as a Silver Tier Partner," Amy Garner, Esri Partner Coordinator, said. "The ability to leverage online, offline and mobile technologies within the land rights, infrastructure assets and data management markets makes geoAMPS a perfect fit for the Esri Partner Network."

